

OUR ANZAC HEROES

In rugby league, working together as a team is really important for winning, just like how ANZAC soldiers supported each other during tough times. ANZACs were very brave and helped each other a lot, which is something rugby league teams can learn from.

ANZAC soldiers were known for their courage, even when things were scary during battles like at Gallipoli. They stuck together and helped each other through the hard times, showing that teamwork makes you stronger.

They were also really kind because they helped each other, even if it meant they might get hurt. Rugby league teams can learn from this by supporting their teammates and being kind on and off the field.

During a rugby league game, players need to work together by talking to each other, making plans, and helping each other out on the field. They also practice together to get better as a team. Like the ANZACs, they know that when they're together, they're stronger and can do amazing things!

By learning from the bravery and teamwork of ANZAC soldiers, we can work together with our friends to do great things, both in sports and in life!

BEFORE READING

1. Use a highlighter and find words in the text that you or other students may not understand. Make a list of these words.

---

---

---

2. Discuss with a shoulder partner what you think each of these words might mean.

DURING READING

1. Read the first paragraph. What do you predict this article is going to be about?

---

---

2. As you read, circle any key words in the text.

AFTER READING

1. What characteristics of ANZAC soldiers are important for good teams?

---

---

---

2. Draw a picture of people working well together as a team.

